No Appreciable Advances Over
Previous Offers; No Mention of Abandoning Ruhr
Passive Resistance

PARIS UNCONVINCED

Knows Enemy Can Meet Obligations; Willing to Make Joint Reply, But It Must Agree
With French Views

(By the Associated Press.)
Paris, June 7. — The German reply to the ultimatum of the French government, received in the capital today, remains entirely unacceptable to the French. It was declared in government circles tonight. It makes no appreciable advances over the previous offers and France can not even discuss it with Germany for, as was declared at Brussels yesterday, the passive resistance in the Ruhr must be abandoned before any negotiations can begin.
The note was characterized as unsatisfactory for four main reasons:
First—because it makes no mention of abandoning the passive resistance which is the first of the Franco-Belgian conditions.
Second—Germany offers no definite sum as the total reparations.
Third—In suggesting an impartial international commission to fix the reparations total, Germany ignores and seeks to violate the Versailles treaty, which created these reparations commissions for exactly that purpose. The French see no reason why the reparations commission should be supplanted.
Fourth—The suggestion for guaranties might be open to discussion if Germany proposed their administration by the allies, but if Germany administers the guaranties the French would expect no satisfactory result.
The French are still unconvinced, they say, when Germany pleads inability to pay. They declare they have seen her living sumptuously and that they know that she can meet her obligations.
Premier Poincaré had a lengthy conference with the French cabinet this afternoon and gave him a report of his meeting with the German ambassador at Brussels. The question of how the German note is to be answered, it is said in official circles, depends upon the other allies. France would be glad to join in a collective answer, but the terms must agree with the French views.

Germany Prefers Hazard.

Paris, June 7. — Germany considered a hazard was preferable to the ultimatum she dispatched to the allies capitals the memorandum published today, and therefore she refused to sign a total for her reparations obligation, although she proposed securities for them, according to a statement made tonight by Baron von Rosenberg, minister of foreign affairs, at a conference with the newspapermen tonight.
"No German government would give what it is not convinced the German people can pay," the minister said. "We endeavored to answer the ultimatum fairly; yet we could not give Germany's capacity for payment any nearer June 2 than May 21."

Germany Ready to Settle.

The cardinal features of the May 21 note, he continued, was a proposal for an international commission, such as suggested by Secretary of State Hughes. It therefore was repeated in the memorandum of today "in a few words, but concisely and clearly."
The form and substance of this latest document, he said, was not its most important feature; its importance lay rather in its expression of Germany's readiness to reach a settlement which, he accomplished, would bring a long and only for Germany the end of Europe. Written expression of the problem and "it is necessary to get together around the table and look each other in the eye and talk to each other; and that is the only way to ask for a conference."

MEN ENTICE BONDS FROM MESSENGER

Promise of Split. Give Him Good Time at Coney Island and Disappear

New York, June 7. — A rescuee who supported the claims to a split as hosts at a banquet and sumptuous dinner at Coney Island proved too strong a temptation for James Foley, 18 year old messenger for Charles Barney and Company, brokerage house.
Arrested today charged with stealing $141,000 in bonds which he reported on Tuesday that he had lost, he declared that the split in Coney Island was all he had needed to get the strangers in return for the bonds. Accompanied by police, he turned the city today, looking for the split. As to whom, he said, he had given the securities on their promise to dispose of them and split the proceeds.
Foley, police said, admitted that seven months ago he "lost" $8,000 in securities which he turned over to the two men. In payment, he said, they gave him $40, took him to Coney Island, told him he was a fool to work for a salary and promised to split with him proceeds of any securities he would give them.
Tuesday, he declared to the police, he met them again and was induced to hand over the bonds. He told his employers he had lost the securities, but a subsequent investigation disclosed facts which did not tally with his story.

SEARCH CORNERS OF EARTH FOR PURNELL

"King" of House of David Wanted on Statutory Charges Preferred by Cult Girl

St. Joseph, Mich., June 7. — The search for Benjamin Purnell, missing House of David leader, will go into far corners of the globe, it was learned today. The "king" was wanted to answer to a statutory charge made by Gladys Panford Hubel, who alleges numerous assaults while she was an inmate of Shiloh, Purnell's colony residence.
Andrew R. Dougherty, state attorney, is anxious here to confer with Colonel Roy C. Vandervoort, head of the state constabulary, and with Berrien county officers, who yesterday raided Shiloh in their search for Purnell. It was indicated tonight that the state will prosecute the search vigorously.

Judge Harry E. Dinman today adjourned hearings until June 26.

DRY LEAGUE WILL ACCEPT CHALLENGE OF N. Y. GOVERNOR

Call Meeting to Checkmate Work of Smith; Baker Says Wets "Drift Thrown on Bank by Freshet"

Montgomery, La., June 7. — Charging that Governor Alfred E. Smith has elected himself chief commander of the numbers, bootleggers and rum runners, Dr. Perley A. Baker, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league of America, today announced at his home here that the league will accept the challenge of the New York governor issued upon his signing of the bill.
"The challenge of Governor Smith to overthrow the eighteenth amendment and the prohibition laws of the country is accepted by the Anti-Saloon league of America," the statement of Dr. Baker said. "We have already called a meeting of all national officers and state superintendents for June 26-28 to lay plans to checkmate the work of the New York executive."

Dr. Baker declared that "four or five states like Wisconsin, that have trailed the beer wagon so long they do not know anything else, may attempt to follow suit in New York's action, but they will be awakened."
Smith, he said, is no more than a common drift thrown out on the banks by a freshet. The hypocritical pretensions of Governor Smith that he was seeking the light in making up his mind whether to approve or veto the prohibition code of New York, will remain a standing joke in the years to come. It must have been interesting to the governor listening to the arguments for and against his tongue in his cheek. Governor Smith has breathed the atmosphere of beer and rum since youth.

ENDICOTT BANKER RELEASED ON BAIL

$35,000 Bond for Earl B. Jenney, Charged With Using the Mails to Defraud

Endicott, June 7. — Earl B. Jenney, Endicott banker, was released on $35,000 bail by United States Commissioner Robert S. Wickham of Binghamton today, after a charge of using the mails to defraud had been preferred against him. Paul Revere was shown on his famous ride, and General Joseph Warren in command at Bunker Hill, where he fell. Another float depicted the signing of the Declaration of Independence, all of the signers except one having been Masons. The ringing of the Liberty bell by Masons was presented and Benjamin Franklin, member of the Paris lodge to which John Paul Jones belonged, was shown pleading the cause of the new republic in the court of Louis XIV.

NO INTERURBAN SERVICE OUT OF SCHENECTADY

Force of Employees Diminishes; Railway Guards Fire Shots and Anger Crowds

Schenectady, June 7. — Cars ran less frequently on local lines and not at all on interurban routes today, apparently as the outcome of disorder attending the conduct of the strike on the lines of the Schenectady Railway company yesterday, and early this morning. All cars ceased operations at 6 o'clock tonight, two hours earlier than is customary.

Interurban service was halted ostensibly because of fear that attempts to damage the track would be resumed, efforts to burn a wooden trestle on the Schenectady-Saratoga Springs line this morning, proving futile. Lack of men apparently caused the reduced service on local runs, it being learned that the company's force of new employees has been decreased through the shifting of men to Albany to operate United Traction company cars, desertion in the ranks and the capture and arrest of a number of others during the fracas yesterday.

CHINESE TAKEN IN LONG ISLAND RAIDS

101 Cheap Factory Hands Sent to Ellis Island as First Deportation Step

New York, June 7. — Police of the Long Island and New York immigration inspectors of the Chinese department today arrested 101 Chinese, charged with being illegally in the United States, in a series of raids in Long Island city factories. The raids followed a complaint of the American Legion of Queens, that cheap labor was being used in the factories, to the exclusion of war veterans.

The men, whose ages range from 15 to 50 years, were put on an immigration department lighter to Ellis Island, where proceedings were started for their deportation.
According to the Chinese department officials, the Chinese are a part of 5,000 members of that nation who are smuggled yearly into the country. The inspectors declared that it is the custom of these men to take berths on ships sailing to America in ports and to desert on their arrival. They are sheltered here, when reported as missing from the ship, in boarding houses which make a specialty of the Chinese. The men are all of these men become cheap factory hands as were all those captured today, according to the inspectors.

ARMAMENT TALK AT GENEVA ENDS

No Vote Taken of Lord Cecil's Plan; Compromise Likely With French Plan

(By the Associated Press.)
Geneva, June 7. — The temporary armament committee of the League of Nations today finished its discussion, without coming to a vote, of Lord Robert Cecil's plan for a disarmament and a guarantee pact among the powers.
It was decided to take up the question later, meanwhile asking the opinion of the league's permanent military commission in regard to the French counter project presented by Colonel Requin.
Lord Robert's project, in the opinion of many of the leading delegates, cannot be accepted and a compromise will be necessary in which some of the features of both his plan and that of the French will be incorporated. The principle difference between the two projects is that Lord Robert demands a complete general pact of guarantees while Colonel Requin's proposals arrangements between any two or more countries as more likely to result in immediate action in the case of attack.

GERMANS GIVE COPY OF NOTE TO WASHINGTON

Reparations Offer to Entente Allies Attracts Wide Attention in Official Circles of Capital

WANT DISCUSSIONS

Observers See Step in Advance in Treatment of Situation; U. S. Has No Part in Matter at Present

Washington, June 7. — An official text of the new German proposal to the allies on reparations was before state department officials today, transmitted by the German ambassador, Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt, as a matter of information. While official comment was withheld there can be no doubt that the clause in the German note declaring that a method of payment could be determined only by "direct consultations with those who are to receive payments" attracted wide attention in official circles.

In view of the position taken by the American government before the occupation of the Ruhr, the German declaration for a direct, oral discussion of methods of reparations payments, could not fail to attract attention here.
The American suggestion to the French government prior to the occupation of the Ruhr was that a conference of the interested nations be called to seek a businesslike solution of the problem. The German suggestion contained in the current reparations proposal from Berlin is in line with the theory that impelled the American government to make its informal suggestion for such a conference.

No official word discusses details of the German proposal and the official text received at the state department was not made public there, although copies were made available to the press at the German embassy. It was obvious, however, that the declaration of the German authorities that they are no way of arriving at a permanent adjustment of the reparations angle except through the medium of direct consultations with the governments, which are entitled to receive reparations payments under the treaty of Versailles, impressed official observers here as marking a step in advance in the treatment of the situation.

Allied reactions to the German suggestion that the problem be attacked in a businesslike way will be awaited with interest here. Hope is entertained that it will lead to discussion which may bring about the initiation of conference between Germany and her creditor nations that might lead to an ultimate agreement and help stabilize European conditions.
The Washington government, however, has no part in the reparations matter at present and the question of whether the United States would be a participant in such conversations as the German note suggests, could not arise until there had been an agreement to hold the consultations outlined.

On Rough or Weedy Greens, Is It Advisable to Use a Club Other Than a Putter?

Answered by LAURIE ATTON

Always a consistent place winner in the big tournaments—National Open, Metropolitan Open, Western Open, and sectional tournaments. Panned for his accuracy and steadiness under fire.

By all means use a club other than a putter when a green is rough or weedy. When the distance is less than eight feet to the cup I would recommend an ironputter with a bit of a loft on the blade. If the distance is more than eight feet, use a mashie iron or a jigger. Either of these clubs will give the ball a pith and help it to run true to the hole because of the slight loft given at the start of its travel.

PLAN TO REDUCE AUTO ACCIDENTS

Many of the Larger Cities of the Country Are Making Determined Safety Campaigns.

New York.—Determined to reduce the number of automobile accidents, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Washington, Kansas, Detroit and numerous other cities now are making plans for timely safety campaigns.

The automobile season this year has brought with it greater problems than ever before on account of the great increase in motor production and the question of reducing fatalities is being given special consideration by traffic officers and safety experts throughout the nation.

A country-wide survey to ascertain the causes of automobile accidents has been initiated by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters. Among the many other organizations that are planning to do everything within their power to curb automobile accidents are the National Safety Council, Safety Institute of America, American Society of Safety Engineers, Safety First League, American Engineering Standards Council, National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and American Automobile Association.

Co-operating with the police departments, public officials and chambers of commerce in various cities, the associations named now are engaged in educational campaigns to reduce the number of automobile accidents and thus conserve both life and property.

Although the automobile accidents are increasing every year, they are decreasing in proportion to the number of automobiles, according to a statement made by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters. Fourteen thousand lives were lost in motor accidents in this country in 1922—an increase of 1,000 over the total for 1921, says a statement from the public safety division of the National Safety Council. During 1922 the death rate per hundred thousand population was 12.9, which compares with 11.5 for the previous year.

One of the salient reasons for the comforting decrease in the number of automobile accidents is the education of the motorist and pedestrian alike. Stringent traffic regulations and legislation have helped to pull down the ratio of accidents to the autos in use.

In New York city the newly organized department of public safety has interested the board of education in an effort to minimize the loss of life by auto accidents. Safety lessons are being added to the children's school curriculum. The 25,000 public school teachers are advising students of the dangers that lurk in streets. The department of public safety, which is affiliated with the police department, has had more than 1,500 auto drivers arrested during the past few months for failing to have any sort of workable brakes on their vehicles.

Police Commissioner Enright has appealed to auto owners to make sure that their vehicles are operating with the right kind of brakes. A squad is making daily brake inspections. More than 500 drivers have been convicted of being negligent, and more than $8,000 has been collected in fines.

Brake Inspection.

While New York city has been giving special attention to brake inspection, other communities have not been slowing up in this respect. Today public officials and safety experts are beginning to realize more and more the need of efficient brakes. It has been found that in some communities at least 25 per cent of the machines needed brake adjustment. In some instances coroners have held drivers criminally responsible for accidental deaths because of defective brakes. Systematic inspection of brakes is becoming increasingly popular with traffic and safety officials and several states already have such statutes enacted.

A drive against poor brakes has been instituted by Frank A. Goodwin, state registrar of motor vehicles in Massachusetts, who has announced he will revoke the licenses of motorists found operating their cars with defective brakes. Several cities in that state are inspecting brakes regularly.

In Washington, D. C., the leading firms have started a movement to reduce the number of accidents by requesting the public to advise them if their cars have defective brakes.

The solution of Washington's traffic problem is said to be largely a question of engineering. This matter is now being given consideration by the American Automobile Association.

The safety campaign in that city several months ago was regarded as highly successful and another one will be launched later this year. The local safety council is busy along educational lines.

A large number of prominent citizens in Philadelphia are organizing for a determined accident prevention campaign. Several meetings are being held and the chamber of commerce is behind the movement.

In Pittsburgh the western Pennsylvania division of the National Safety Council is preparing for an aggressive campaign and will stage another no-accident week.

In the city of automobile manufacturers—Detroit—the safety council has been conducting a city-wide campaign with marked results.

Many One-Armed Automobilers.

Harrisburg, Pa.—There are more one-armed automobile drivers in Pennsylvania this year than in 1922. The state highway department reported that in the first three months of this year 513 special operators' licenses were issued to persons with one arm as compared with 425 during the same period in 1922.

A COUPLE OF GOOD ONES

There's a suburban home where the owner's principal delight is keeping it tidy and span. After dinner he and a guest were smoking on the lawn. The guest, after lighting his cigar, threw the burned match to the ground.

"I wouldn't do that, George," said the host.

"Why not?"

"It spoils the appearance of everything," was the answer. "It's just those little things that make a place look bad."

The guest smoked his cigar in silence for a few minutes; then, without a word, got up, walked down the road, and disappeared. He returned in a short time.

His host asked: "Where've you been, George?"

"Oh, I just went down to spit in the river," said George. —(Chicago Tribune.)

Misjudged.

Mr. Jones was at a dinner party. He was extremely shy and nervous, and never could summon up courage to speak because he felt his inability to say anything neat.

All the evening he had been trying to think of something nice to say to his hostess. At last he thought he saw his chance.

"What a small appetite you have, Mr. Jones!" she remarked with a smile.

"Oh, next to next!" he remarked gallantly. "Would cause any man to lose his appetite."

And now he wonders why he is never asked to the house again. —(Los Angeles Times.)

Norwegian Preacher Starts Labor Trouble

Bergen, Norway.—The latest "drunken preacher" one Maria Akerblom, has been arrested in Finland. The woman caused such a furor among the working classes that the authorities felt forced to take action.

Going from place to place on horseback, with flowing hair, Maria foretold the immediate end of the world. She declared that in view of this to own a house or land, to save money or do any kind of work, was useless. As a result of her preaching all of her large following of peasants, it is said, have been economically ruined.

DR. THACHER'S LIVER AND BLOOD SYRUP WILL BE GIVEN AWAY THIS WEEK

An interesting fact in connection with the introduction in Oneonta of the celebrated prescription of Dr. H. S. Thacher was disclosed today when it was learned that local agents are distributing a limited number of free samples of Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup among those who are suffering from Indigestion, Stomach Troubles, Rheumatism, Sick Headaches, Torpid Liver, Pains in Back, Loss of Sleep, Impure Blood, Loss of Weight, Biliousness, Loss of Appetite, Dizziness, Coated Tongue, Constipation, Night Sweats, Shortness of Breath, Skin Eruptions, Tired-Run-down Feeling, or who need a general strength-building tonic.

In making known the intention of the Thacher Laboratories to give a limited number of free samples of this valuable medicine to men, women and children, officials of this company made the following explanation:

THACHER'S PLAN SAFE

"Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is not to be confounded with the ordinary patent medicine. This great tonic is composed of medicinal ingredients long recommended for their superior powers in overcoming the diseases caused by improper working of the liver, stomach and bowels and the impurities that poison the blood.

"While there is ample proof of the merit of this celebrated tonic of Dr. Thacher's, not only through exhaustive analysis of the formula and laboratory tests, but through results obtained in actual cases over a period of many years, still it is our desire to further demonstrate to the people of this section that Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is something entirely different from the commonplace remedies.

To accomplish this, we are willing to bear the expense of proving the extraordinary powers of Dr. Thacher's prescription, both by our own tests and by the distribution of free samples of the medicine to a limited number of local people."

Anyone who desires may obtain one of these free samples, as long as the supply lasts, by calling on the druggist in their town who is the authorized agent for Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup and requesting one.

Out-of-town people are advised that if no Thacher agent has yet been appointed in their town, their own druggist may secure the syrup and supply them with it. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is by applying to Thacher Sales Company, 329 Park Bldg., New York City.

Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is sold in Oneonta by G. S. Slade.

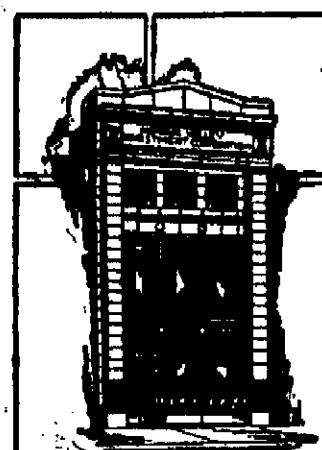

Great Medicine Sold On Money Back Guarantee

Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup has been found to possess such remarkable qualities as a family medicine that it is now being sold on a positive guarantee that if it does not bring relief, the purchase price will be refunded.

Positive instructions have been issued by the Thacher Laboratories to all druggists to this effect. If no benefit is received by anyone suffering from Stomach Troubles, Indigestion, Rheumatism, Sick Headaches, Torpid Liver, Pains in Back, Loss of Sleep, Impure Blood, Loss of Weight, Biliousness, Loss of Appetite, Dizziness, Coated Tongue, Constipation, Night Sweats, Shortness of Breath, Skin Eruptions, Tired-Run-down Feeling, or those who feel the need of a general strength-building tonic, the purchase price is to be returned without question.

WORCESTER COMMUNITY ASS'N

Committee on Incorporation of Village Reports Inability to Secure Necessary Number of Signatures.

Worcester, June 7.—At a meeting of the Worcester Community association held in the village office room Wednesday evening, June 6, Mr. O'Mara reported for the committee on incorporation of the village, that owing to the strong opposition encountered and to the apparent impossibility of obtaining the signatures of the required owners of one third of the assessed valuation of the proposed district, the committee had, much to its regret, decided it advisable to let the matter rest for the present.

E. F. Johnson reported for the committee on playgrounds, that said committee had been unable to find any place that could be purchased other than the Hamilton plot; said plot, while not at times could be made suitable if properly drained, and that Mr. Hamilton offered the plot to be used for public uses only for $1,000.

Mr. Miller of the High school advanced a proposition that said Hamilton plot be purchased by money raised by popular subscription and presented to the school district with the understanding that it be used for a community playground and athletic field, subject to necessary restrictions, as deemed advisable by the school board. Mr. Miller said Mr. Hamilton would start the subscription with $500.

Mr. Miller, Mr. Wilcox and E. T. Johnson were appointed a committee to proceed with plans of raising said money as proposed by Dr. Miller.

TWO NATIONAL PROBLEMS.

The necessity of providing enough timber to supply the country's future requirements, and our inability to use the bulk of our cut or burned-over forest lands for agriculture are two problems now confronting the nation, declares the Forest Service, in an article entitled "Timber, Mine or Crop?"

"The depletion of our timber supplies and the reduction of our forest area largely through timber mining has created one national problem, that of providing the timber necessary to meet our future requirements," says the article, "and inability to utilize cut or burned-over forest lands for agriculture has created a second and related problem—that of land use."

All Lands Not Agricultural.

In discussing the land utilization problem the Department of Agriculture says that the American people have commonly believed that all our forest lands are agricultural, virtually regardless of soil, topography, location, or climate, but that it is now beginning to be understood that this belief rests on a serious misconception.

"The tradition that all cut or burned-over forest land, or even the greater part of it, is being taken by agriculture is not borne out by the facts," the article declares. "The total area of forest lands already cut or burned over, exclusive of farm woodlots, that has not been taken for agricultural use has already grown to 181,000,000 acres. Furthermore, our forest land is being cut over at the rate of about 10,000,000 acres yearly and probably more than half this area is in virgin forest."

In Wisconsin, the Forest Service points out, there are about 13,000,000 acres of cut-over and idle lands, an area greater than all the improved farm land in the state. In Michigan the area of cut-over lands is placed at 15,500,000 acres. There are in the Lake States alone from 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 acres of cut-over land, and the area is gradually increasing.

"In Michigan," the article states, "at the average rate of settlement over the past 20 years, 200 years would be required to settle the present area of cut-over land and the remaining timberland that will soon be cut over. In the Upper Peninsula 290 years would be required, in the northern part of the Lower Peninsula 200 years, and in the southern part of the Lower Peninsula 170 years. In Minnesota, at the rate of clearing and settlement of the past 40 years, it would take nearly a century to absorb idle farms even the best part of the land now idle."

"By recognizing the importance and urgency of the two great national problems of land use and timber supply and by taking full advantage of the powerful forces of public necessity and private opportunity which are working toward the solution of both problems, we can grow on our forest lands timber crops sufficient to meet our wood requirements if public agencies and private owners each do their share. The alternative is idle forest lands and timber bankruptcy."

THE GUIDE POST—BY HENRY VANDYKE

The Poetry of Heavenly Love
As the hart panteth after the water brook, so panteth my soul after Thee, O God.—Ps. 42:1.

No lover ever poured out the longings of his heart towards his mistress more eagerly than David voiced his desire and thirst for God.

No conqueror ever sang of victory more exultantly than David rejoiced in the Lord, who was his light and his salvation, the strength of his life and his portion forever.

Alone all the true mission of poetry is to glorify God.

It is to be a voice to soothe and exhort and to give to the soul the wings given to it in order that it may be able to fly into the ether.

There is no perfect joy without love. Love is the poetry of the heart. It is the highest of all love-poetry in that which celebrates with the universe, "What love which is and was and is, and shall be, and my brother and my sister."

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY

Valuable Homing Pigeons.

The war department has a large number of homing pigeons which made excellent records during the world war. Prominent among these "birds" is the Mocker, who, with one eye destroyed by a piece of shrapnel and his head a swirl of dotted blood, "chimed" in a loud tone from the front lines early on the morning of Sept. 12, 1918, carrying messages of great importance. The messages gave the location of several heavy batteries which were doing terrific damage to German lines, and the information enabled the American artillerymen to silence the guns within twenty minutes. [Washington Times.]

Damage to Roads.

The recent experience of Massachusetts with overloaded trucks gives some idea of conditions in Rhode Island. An investigation covering only a small part of the state shows that the roads will be in excess of $100,000, and preliminary reports in other localities not included in the estimate indicate that the total expense will be very heavy as long stretches of roads have been destroyed by the trucks and must be rebuilt. The order for closing so many state roads to heavily loaded trucks has saved the Commonwealth a substantial sum, an estimate of $500,000 is probably conservative. [Providence Journal.]

A Treaty with Turkey.

More convincing of the rosate prospects of settlement of disputes between the allies and the Turks than anything that has come out of Lausanne is the opening of formal negotiations of a treaty of amity and commerce between the United States and Turkey. Negotiations will be carried on for this country by minister to Switzerland Joseph C. Grew, American observer at Lausanne, who has been an influential factor in ironing out differences between opposing diplomats engaged in the conference. [Pittsburgh Gazette.]

Trade Trends.

America in April imported more goods than it sent abroad, as it did in March, the first month that condition had existed since the war began in 1914. Corrected figures for March show a trade balance of $5,912,734 against this country, and for April of $41,000,000. Previously the largest monthly surplus of imports over exports was $35,345,472, in August, 1917. [Indianapolis News.]

All Propositions Voted Down.

An unusual interest was taken by the taxpayers of the town of Tompkins in the special election last week Tuesday, when all propositions were voted down. The several propositions included the building of sections of highway in several parts of the town, and a new bridge across Trout creek at Canonsville. The town was to issue bonds to pay for bridges on the state highway.

Not Like the Old Days.

Del Stewart, finished moving the day which he purchased of A. M. Galt, to his property.

Considering the warm weather and amount of argument on the first day of moving, it was slow starting. How different are the days of barn moving! Del treated the gang to Lemon Crush. [Jefferson Standard.]

PLANNING CHILDREN'S HOME

Franklin Baptist Association Votes $2,000 Toward Institution Planned For Oneonta—Deacons and Officers Name and Help Association Plans Will be Incorporated.

One of the most important matters of business considered at the annual meeting of the Franklin Baptist association, which was held Tuesday and Wednesday of this week at Sidney, had to do with the proposed erection of a children's home in this city. The erection of a Baptist Children's home has previously been mentioned in these columns, and it had been taken up at the meeting of the State convention, where it had favorable consideration.

At the meeting in Sidney the question was brought definitely before the association, the matter of central location for a child and central New York being considered and also the fact that, though there are crowded Baptist orphanages in New York city and in Buffalo, there is none which could from this section be easily reached, or in which children could be placed. At the conclusion of this conference and as a first definite step toward the establishment of the home, a resolution was adopted pledging the sum of $2,000 as a preliminary step toward acquiring property for an institution, to be known as the Up-State Baptist Home for Children.

Following the passing of the resolution a board of directors for the association, for which articles of incorporation are being drafted by City Judge Frank C. Huntington, was duly elected. The board will consist of eighteen members, the temporary directors being as follows: Claude L. Smith, Frank C. Huntington, Oneonta; Frank Davy, Unadilla; A. J. Leonard, Otisco; Walter Pomeroy, Franklin; William Miller, North Franklin; W. W. Fay, Camden, N. J.; William G. Wright, Milford Center; L. E. Brownson, West Oneonta; W. H. Sisson, Wells Bridge; Elmer Baker, Sidney; O. D. Wheat, Sidney Center; Ray Truman, West Oneonta; Seth Overholt, Walton; Rev. N. E. Burd, Oneonta; L. L. Piersall, Mt. Upton; William Dietz, Gilbertsville; F. J. Friesen, Delhi. Officers for the association who were elected in July last were: President, F. C. Huntington; vice president, Dr. E. J. Farley; secretary, Mrs. Claude L. Smith; treasurer, William G. Wright.

It should be understood that the above list of directors is temporary merely and for the purpose of incorporation. There are eighteen Baptist associations in the district which it is proposed to cover, and eventually, as each takes up the work, a director will be named for it, one of the eighteen elected yesterday dropping out, until there is one for each association. The territory covered will be that part of East-Central New York to Poughkeepsie on the south, Glens Falls and the Mohawk valley on the north, the New England boundary on the east and the Broome, Tioga and Cortland associations on the west. To all this part of the state Oneonta is easily accessible, and there is practically no doubt that the home will be located here. The committee has already sites under consideration and it is planned either to buy a site and erect a home, or possibly to acquire property on which a home now located can be made temporarily available for such use. The matter is one in which the three Baptist churches of the city are deeply interested, and with it the Franklin association as a whole, and the project will unquestionably be pushed vigorously to completion.

As for the city of Oneonta, it has already manifested much interest in the project and money for carrying on the work will no doubt be subscribed liberally not only by members of the Baptist churches but by other generous-hearted citizens who appreciate the peculiar advantages in the way of healthful surroundings and educational advantages which are here afforded—facts which no doubt influenced the churches of this portion of the state in the matter of location.

The matter was presented at the meeting of the association by Rev. G. N. Case of Unadilla. Mr. Case is also chairman of the publicity committee, the other members of which are Frank C. Huntington and J. J. Bookhout of this city, Rev. S. E. Carr of Walton, Rev. Dr. Woodward of Edinboro and Mrs. Claude L. Smith of Oneonta.

Woman's Auxiliary Organizes

In connection with the action of the association, a Woman's auxiliary was formed to act with the board of directors in carrying on the work. The officers of the auxiliary are Mrs. Claude V. Smith, president; Mrs. Frank Davy of Unadilla, secretary, and Mrs. George A. Carr of Oneonta, treasurer. The auxiliary will take up the matter of publicity and will promote the work in the churches of the association.

AGAINST STATE INSURANCE

In Address Before Rotary Club Secretary of State Insurance Federation Characterizes State Insurance as Socialism.

Opposition to state insurance, which he characterized as a scheme fostered by Socialists, Radicals, Bolsheviks and other agitators, was voiced by Charles H. Willoughby of Albany, executive secretary of the Insurance Federation of the State of New York, in his talk at the luncheon of Oneonta Rotary club yesterday. The speaker urged his hearers to oppose state insurance, not to fight the battles of the insurance business, but to protect their own businesses and their neighbors to engage in business under the spur of private initiative. “Insurance has been instrumental to a degree which comparatively few persons appreciate in the wonderful American prosperity of the last century,” the speaker said. “The immense reserves which must be maintained in order for the protection of the insured, have been invested in all manner of industries and a great variety of enterprises, from home building to agriculture, and have become the keystone of the credit resources of the nation. Every policy holder, large or small, is thus made a silent and by no means indirect partner in these undertakings and the protection and benefits on each side are mutual and reciprocal. It would be as difficult to think of commerce without insurance as it would be to think of transportation without railroads. Modern life has become so completely immersed in the theory and practice of insurance that there are few commodities affecting human relationships to which its principles have not been successfully applied.”

Charles H. Willoughby.

Mr. Willoughby said that the great menace to insurance stability and prosperity is the tendency toward state participation in the business. He stated that in no instance where it has been tested has state insurance, even though heavily subsidized, proved a success. In closing, Mr. Willoughby stated that it was the wish of the Federation which he represented that the insurance business should be left to the Rotarians.

BUILDING IN NEW YORK

D. F. Keyes Erecting Large Business Block in Bronx Section of Metropolitan—Will Contain Fourteen Stories.

The Bell Land corporation, owned by D. F. Keyes of this city, is building a business block which will contain fourteen stories at Broadway and 220th street, New York city, three blocks above the Harlem river and in the heart of a section of huge apartment houses. The company owns other property there and may later build thereon stores which will bring the total to 42. The land was purchased about five years ago and it was decided to build at this time because of the erection adjacent thereto of several large apartment houses.

The building, Mr. Keyes states, is in the heart of a section rapidly building up and easy of access from other parts of New York. It is within a block of a Broadway subway station and within a block of the Knickerbocker station of the Putnam division of the New York Central railroad. Mr. Keyes anticipates that the store will be a success in renting the stores as drug stores, haberdasheries and for other purposes incident to a residential section.

The committee having in charge arrangements for the summer assembly at Hartwick seminary, which for the past four years has been most successfully carried out, announces that arrangements are now practically complete for the fifth annual assembly, which will be held from August 27 to August 31 inclusive. Two Bible courses will be offered, one for ministers led by Dr. Frank Wolford of Hartwick seminary, who will deliver a course of constructive lectures on the book of Hebrews. A second Bible class for others in attendance will be held at the same hour. At the morning and evening assembly, Rev. C. C. Rasmussen of Greenburg, Pa., will deliver a series of lectures on Bible themes.

JURY FINDS MEAD GUILTY

Local Real Estate Man to Be Sentenced Today for Attempted Kidnapping of Young Girl — Jury Out from 11:30 a. m. Until 9 p. m.

Cooperstown, June 7. — Daniel Mead of Oneonta was found guilty of the attempted kidnapping of Margaret Young, a young girl upon whom he had been trying to force his attentions, by a jury in county court here this evening. He will be sentenced Friday. The jury went out at 11:30 a. m. and when evening came without a verdict it was thought that a disagreement was probable. It was not until 9 p. m. that the jury came into the courtroom with the verdict of guilty.

The case was summed up this morning by C. G. Tennant for the defendant and District Attorney Adrian A. Pierson for the people. A number of requests to charge were made by the attorneys, and the case went to the jury at half past eleven o'clock. In the course of the afternoon the jury returned to the courtroom and issued instructions as to some points in the case. It again retired and at 4:30 was taken out for supper by the officer in charge. Following supper the jury again retired and at 9 o'clock returned with the verdict of guilty. County Judge C. G. Welch announced that he will sentence Mead at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Mead was indicted for kidnapping but was found guilty only of an attempt to do so, a crime which carries only half the maximum penalty for kidnapping. Judge Welch had instructed the jury that they might return such a verdict, instead of kidnapping, if they thought the evidence so warranted. It is understood that the jury stood for conviction from the outset but was undecided until the last as to the degree of the crime.

The case was vigorously fought from the start. District Attorney Pierson presented a strong case for the people and Attorney Tennant made an able defense, upon which Mr. Pierson complimented him in speaking to a Star representative last evening. The case consumed four days of intensive work.

Very Unusual Case.

Mr. Pierson stated last evening that the case was without a parallel in the county and that few like it have ever been tried in the state. There have been kidnapping cases of course but the circumstances surrounding this case made it unique. The case aroused considerable interest in Cooperstown as well as in Oneonta and other places.

The crime of which Mead was found guilty occurred on the morning of April 4. Miss Young, a stenographer upon whom Mead had been forcing his attentions, was on her way to work when Mead and an unidentified man seized her and tried to drive away with her in Mead's automobile. She escaped and reported the matter at police headquarters. Mead fled the city and eluded for some time the efforts of the police to capture him.

At last, upon the advice of his attorney, C. G. Tennant of Cooperstown, he gave himself up. Following an examination of witnesses before City Judge Huntington he was held for the grand jury, which subsequently indicted him. When arraigned Mead pleaded not guilty and asked for a jury trial, the result of which was the verdict of guilty announced above.

Vandyke Will Case.

After the jury had retired this morning the contest of the will of George Vandyke of Cooperstown was taken up. A jury was drawn and the afternoon was consumed in the taking of testimony. At 5 o'clock the court adjourned to Friday morning, when it will be summed up by Hon. George L. Boakes for the contestant, Lulu Vandyke, and by Hon. N. P. Willis for the executor of the will.

Card of Thanks.

The mother and sisters of the late George L. Young express their sincere appreciation to those who sent flowers and furnished cars for the funeral; also to Captain Baker and boys of Co. G who acted as bearers.

CAMERA FINDS ELUSIVE POLE

Can Place Location Within Two Feet in Wanderings in Area of 80 Square Feet.

New Haven, Conn.—Prof. Frank Schlesinger, director of Yale university observatory, has perfected what is to be known as the Zenith camera. Final experiments carried out here for over a month have proved successful. What is to be the exact value of this new "find" for the field of astronomy is, of course, unknown, but men well versed in scientific study of the heavens have already planned important tasks for the apparatus.

The optical principles of the Zenith camera were perfected some years ago by the English astronomer royal, George Airy, but all the new automatic features were designed and perfected by Professor Schlesinger, who first started work upon the instrument in 1911. For the last year Yale's noted astronomer worked vigorously for the completion of the camera, and except for a few minor changes it is now able to achieve all for which it was planned.

Accurate Measurements. By photographing certain stars as they come into focus, the Zenith camera makes possible accurate measurements of the varying latitudes of this world. The focus of the camera is directed through a huge telescope, so placed that only those stars passing exceedingly close to the zenith will be photographed. A plate is inserted in the camera at nightfall and, after figuring a time scale with utmost accuracy, a delicate clock system in alarm form is carefully attached. Then all action is automatic until the plate is removed by an operator before morning light harms it.

When the proper time comes the shutter of the camera opens and any stars within focus leave a sharply defined path on the plate as they pass westward beside the zenith. After a few seconds the shutter closes and a valuable picture is ready for the methodical calculations of astronomical science. By measuring distances between certain stars appearing on the picture various positions of the north pole are found. And since it has recently been discovered that the "pole" does not stay at the same point on the earth's surface, but wanders about in a space 80 feet square, such findings are of intrinsic value. Explorers in the Far North could possibly locate the pole within a mile of its proper position. The Zenith camera can locate it within two feet.

Locates North Pole. Motions of the pole prove so complicated and in some respects their are agreed that there should be a considerable increase in the number of instruments suitable for such findings. There are only five in the world, three of them in this country. In accord with this idea, Professor Schlesinger is hopeful that his camera may prove entirely successful and that it will be generally adopted and necessary observations made with it without additional expense at other points.

Study of the north pole field alone has brought many interesting discoveries, chief of which are: the earth, taken as a whole, is as rigid as the strongest structural steel and the land in the northern hemisphere is creeping northward at the rate of one foot a year. This latter, although apparently insignificant, is of major interest to science.

When Yale's new 28-inch telescope is set up in some land south of the equator, probably New Zealand or South Africa, the Zenith camera will be used to study and measure the stars of the southern heavens.

Vienna Realtors Make Hay While Sun Shines

Vienna.—Vienna is showing remarkable adaptability during these days of reconstruction. In more than one municipal office the dusty records and business system that were reminders of the Middle Ages have given place to broad, flat-topped desks, card index systems, typewriters, and a flock of alert young women.

There has been an orgy of speculation in real estate. Of the 43,700 buildings in Vienna, 21,000 have changed owners since the armistice, some of them over and over again. One piece changed hands ten times inside of 18 weeks. The whole city has been crazy to exchange depreciated crowns into real estate, and prices went up tremendously.

In one instance a seller received 6,000 times the prewar price for his dwelling. Even the members of the old aristocracy lost their heads and sold property right and left, and Vienna is filled with foreign buyers.

The city collects transfer taxes at the rate of 80 per cent, a circumstance which diverts a very satisfactory income to the municipal treasury.

Discover Indian Graves Lined With Whalebone

Santa Barbara, Cal.—Indian graves lined with whalebone and containing bodies buried face downward have been unearthed on the site of the Ambassador hotel in this city by representatives of the Museum of American Indians of New York and the Smithsonian Institute of Washington. The scene of the discoveries is known locally as Burton ground.

"From Babylon to Bismarck." Although this saying is generally attributed to Napoleon, it is to be found in the works of Tom Paine, before Napoleon's time. Paine says: "The sublime and the ridiculous are often so nearly related that it is difficult to draw them apart. One step above the sublime makes the ridiculous, and one step above the ridiculous makes the sublime again."

Discarded Fiancés Fly to "Green Peas"

Berkeley, Cal.—And now comes the "Royal and Mystic Order of the Green Peas."

The latest secret society has been formed on the University of California campus by discarded fiancés.

Its object, according to George Smith, its president, is to fight the wiles of cruel co-eds who play up to men students only to reject them.

The constitution of the order defines a "green pea" as "one who has had a hard fall, who has suffered at the hands of woman, a man who has been jilted in love."

The constitution provides also that the "greenest of the green peas" shall automatically become president.

FRENCH FORTS PLACED ON SALE AS VILLAS

Strongholds Along Riviera Offered as Summer Abodes.

Paris.—Anyone who wants to buy or rent a nice Vauban fortress along the French Riviera can apply to engineers' headquarters, French army, a new French real estate firm. The army owns the choicest sites along the Mediterranean coast, from which the most beautiful views of the rocky, tropical, indented shore line and azure sky and water can be enjoyed. Gorgeous sunsets are guaranteed.

The buildings themselves are safely built with ten to twenty-foot-thick masonry walls, and will last several lifetimes. They are made to insure nervous tenants against shells and bombs, and even meteors. Their chief charm is a cooling dampness, greatly appreciated in summer. Cistern water with every fort—if it rains. Land and four walls go with the sale, and occupants are allowed to put in doors, windows, modern conveniences and furniture—at their own expense.

Such is the attractive offer made to the public, because the French army now realizes that these marine forts never again can be used for military purposes. Before the war all of these forts were manned and equipped to protect the French coast, but every man and every cannon was sent to the western front during the war. For nine years they have been lying idle and falling to pieces.

Progress in armaments, the evolution of war, the greater potency and caliber of cannons have made it evident that they are obsolete. All along the Mediterranean, almost every cape, every hill and every island, is crowned with a gray squat mass of stone and concrete. Not only are the trenches and moats now filled with plants of every description, but the profusion of nature has even been extended to the walls of the buildings, inside and out. It would have cost enormous sums to give these fortresses a modern efficiency, and the cost of their destruction would be great. So the army decided to rent or sell them.

Tokyo.—Because a few of their fellow students in a Tokyo school were "plucked" at the recent annual examination, 40 successful candidates went on strike, announcing their decision to the directors in a letter written in blood.

The writers declared: "It was the fault of the students of the whole class that these unfortunate students did not pass the examination, and out of sympathy they refuse to attend school until the school authorities reconsider their decision and remove such students."

London.—English hostesses who have been vying among themselves to have the popular Prince of Wales dine with them have been dismayed to find that his royal highness has very abstemious tastes and eschews all except the simplest dishes.

One of London's most aristocratic and wealthy families set a regal banquet before the prince lately, only to find that their guest passed it all by and chose a plate of cold ham and beans.

English physicians attribute the prince's good health to his frugal diet, abstention from all rich, highly seasoned dishes, especially flesh foods, much outdoor exercise, and a cheery, optimistic disposition.

Two-Thirds of Detroit

Workers in Auto Plants

Detroit, Mich.—Half the industrial employees in Detroit in 1914 were employed in the automobile or allied industries.

Today approximately two-thirds of the industrial employees here are working either in automobile plants or in factories closely allied to the automotive industry.

Officials of the Detroit board of commerce make the announcement to show the rapid growth of the automobile industry. During the period the population of Detroit has more than doubled.

In 1914 Detroit had a total of 112,483 industrial employees, of whom about 50,000 worked in automobile or accessory plants. Today the city has approximately 320,000 industrial workers, and of these about 205,000 are employed either in automobile plants or in establishments where parts of motorcars or motors are produced.

The number of automobiles made in Michigan every year is about 80 per cent of the total output of the country.

ALL HOUSEWIVES CAN PROFIT

Demonstration of Modern Kitchen Equipment Continues.

Young brides, who have scarcely emerged from the "burned biscuit stage of matrimony," are not the only women who are profiting from the demonstration of what can be accomplished through the use of modern kitchen equipment, which is being given at the New York State Gas and Electric company's offices on Main street.

Nor are these recent brides the only women who have crowded their way into the store. With them have come their mothers, mothers-in-law and other women who have prided over the culinary department of the household for years.

The New York State Gas and Electric corporation has practically been turned into a restaurant since the demonstration started, for the cook in charge has been kept busy from nine until five every day turning out as samples pies, cakes, coffee and biscuits, bread and other foods and delicacies to show that proper kitchen equipment means better food, prepared with less effort.

The domestic science demonstration, which is being given in cooperation with the makers of fourteen nationally known food products, will be continued throughout the week.

Electric pyrometry, as the measurement of temperature by electric means is called, has been so far perfected that it is applicable from near the absolute zero—about 460 degrees Fahrenheit below the ordinary zero—to the temperature of melting platinum, more than 3,000 degrees above zero.
